

a customer can have any number of concession sales - zero or many. A concession sale is tied to one customer.

-A customer can have zero or many (as many as they want) tickets - but a ticket can only belong to one customer and only exists when a customer purchases it (one and ONLY one)

A ticket is for one movie, but one or more tickets can be for the same movie

There can be one to many different movies in the movie list. Each movie one and only one entry in the movie list (library).